Product Description

For more than 40 years, parents have trusted Bambo Nature nappies to care for their babies' sensitive skin. All our nappies are produced in Europe – most of them in our own production facility in Denmark – with the same Nordic mindset we've carried from the very beginning: where smart design meets practical care and quality always comes first. All Bambo Nature nappies are dermatologically tested, certified by trusted third-party ecolabels and completely free from perfume and known harmful chemicals. Most importantly, they're designed to simply work. In other words, Bambo Nature products are made to keep delicate baby skin happy – and give parents one less thing to worry about. No matter your needs, you can trust that every Bambo Nature nappy is backed by decades of experience, thoughtful design and just the right amount of love. In fact, we were the first disposable nappy brand in the world to earn the Nordic Swan Ecolabel, a badge of honour we're still very proud of today.

Instructions for use/application

Is your child ready to start potty training? Bambo Nature disposable pants can help your child make a comfortable transition from baby nappies to no nappies at their own pace. The pants are thin and easy for little hands to pull up and down, even when they're in a hurry. Put them on and take them off just like regular pants.
