- ✓ Greater strength when wet than regular paper

Product Description

ABENA's Airlaid Wash Cloth for personal hygiene is a really good disposable wash cloth for full body washing. The cloth is made of a special air-treated material, which makes it extra soft and therefore ideal for washing the entire body - not least for people with delicate and exposed skin. At the same time, this paper washcloth has a very high absorbency. In fact, it can absorb up to six times its own weight. The Airlaid Wash Cloth also has much greater strength when wet compared to traditional paper. If the cloth is moistened in water, it becomes extra soft and comfortable against the skin, which makes it particularly suitable for patient care, baby washing, and for people with delicate skin. The disposable wash cloth can also be an ideal solution for general beauty care when you just want to take extra care of your skin.
